

INTERNAL COMMUNICATION CAMPAIGN

One Lumina, One Direction

Taufik | 2026

INTRODUCTION

As Lumina Group continues to embrace a hybrid working environment, effective internal communication has become essential for keeping employees informed, connected, and engaged. This presentation introduces a strategic communication campaign designed to strengthen collaboration, improve information flow, and support a more connected workplace through clear messaging and integrated communication initiatives.

CAMPAIGN OVERVIEW

Lumina Group has adopted a hybrid working model to provide greater flexibility while maintaining business performance. Although this transition has brought many benefits, it has also created new communication challenges that require a more structured and engaging internal communication approach.

BUSINESS CHALLENGES

Several communication challenges have been identified following the transition to hybrid work. These include declining employee engagement, inconsistent information distribution, and limited opportunities for two-way communication between employees and management.

COMMUNICATION OBJECTIVES

This campaign aims to improve employee engagement by delivering consistent communication, encouraging active participation, and creating stronger connections across the organization. The strategy also supports a more transparent and collaborative workplace culture.

COMMUNICATION STRATEGY

The campaign is built around four strategic priorities: delivering consistent communication, encouraging employee participation, using multiple communication channels, and continuously evaluating campaign performance. Together, these initiatives create a communication system that is clear, engaging, and measurable.

COMMUNICATION CHANNELS

To reach employees effectively, the campaign uses several internal communication channels, including email newsletters, Microsoft Teams, the company intranet, and monthly Town Hall meetings. Each platform plays a specific role in delivering information and encouraging employee interaction.

CAMPAIGN TIMELINE

The campaign will be implemented over a twelve-week period, beginning with research and planning, followed by content development, campaign implementation, and evaluation. This phased approach ensures that communication activities are delivered in a structured and effective manner.

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

By the end of the campaign, Lumina Group expects to achieve higher employee engagement, more consistent internal communication, increased participation in company initiatives, and stronger collaboration across departments. These outcomes will support a more connected and engaged workplace.

SUCCESS MEASUREMENT

Campaign performance will be measured using key performance indicators such as employee engagement, newsletter open rates, Town Hall participation, employee feedback, and communication consistency. These metrics will help evaluate the effectiveness of the campaign and guide future improvements.

CLOSING

Strong internal communication is essential for building an engaged and collaborative workforce. Through the One Lumina, One Direction campaign, Lumina Group is committed to creating a workplace where every employee feels informed, connected, and valued.
